

Wentworth Falls School of Arts Project ADFAS Blue Mountains

Our report was a collaborative effort and didn't magically appear overnight, but was the result of much hard work and dedication by committee members, past and present. It makes a real contribution to the history of the Blue Mountains of NSW. The final report was completed in 2021.

Intended for 'the promotion and diffusion of knowledge' and built in 1915, today the School of Arts serves as the venue for our ADFAS lectures. It is an outstanding example of Art Deco architecture of the period. It is also the home of our local branch library.

I urge you to read the report and take time to study the content and the historic photographs. It also provides a fascinating and comprehensive history of our local area.

It can be found on the ADFAS website by going to "About ADFAS" then scrolling down to "Cultural and Heritage Projects". If you click on the School of Arts heading then under NSW you'll find the Wentworth Falls Report.
